CONGREGATIONALISM

Fourth Day's Proceedings of the Congregational Council.

ANOTHER DAY OF SECRECY.

A Weary Waiting for the Verdict-Theodore Tilton's Letter Ruled Out-A Decision Expected To-Day.

The secrecy of the Council was preserved yesterday much more closely, if possible, than the day The attempt of a newspaper man to get self into the Council on Thursday made the delegates eye each other and every new comer more closely. Whenever questioned by the representatives of the press as to the probabilities of the deliverance the members are mum. They answer very politely, but either cil spent nearly ten hours in session yesterday-in the morning from nine o'clock A. M till nearly half-past one o'clock P. M., in the afternoon from three o'clock to half-past six o'clock P. M., and again in the evening from nine o'clock till haif-past ten o'clock P. M.

The Clinton avenue courch members gathered at the chapel early expecting a prayer meeting, as usual, but went away disappointed. There was Several male members of the three churches interested came later and remained in the chapel until the adjournment. A venerable member of Plymouth church, who was present. spoke in hardly measured terms of the action of his church in this matter. Other church members conversed freely about the case and seemed to think that it would work good o the denomination if Plymouth church were disfellowshipped. Neither the committee nor the Council could agree on the answers to be returned to the queries put to them by the two churches that called them together. The friends of Drs. Budington and Storrs are anxious for a square answer, as nearly categorical as possible, to each query; but the more conservative members try to avoid giving such deliverances as shall widen the breach instead of healing it.

Mr. Tilton sent a letter to the Council yesterday, which might be read equally in favor or against either party. It was read and talked over a little, but was thrown out of the Court.

The cheerfulness of the members at the adjournment last night indicates that they are nearing the end of their deliberations, and this morning they will probably decide. The answer, it is said, when agreed upon in secret session, will be announced with open doors.

The possibility of a new issue of inconvertible paper I regard with amazement and anxiety, and, in my judgment, such an issue would be a detriment and a shame.—CHARLES SUMNER.

The Proceedings Yesterday.

The Council evidently had a close contest yester-day over the answer which is to be given to the seven queries put to it by the two churches which have called it together. It finds itself in "a place where two seas meet," as Dr. Storrs so repeatedly remarked in his addresses on Wednesday and Thursday. The sessions were long and interesting and the delegates very wisely kept their own secrets. Except in a general way their answers to the queries of the reporters and of their friends might, according to the known status of the delegates, be interpreted as favorable to one A brief time was spent in prayer yesterday, and at the usual hour the business session opened. At one o'clock a recess was taken till three P. M., at which time the Council reassembled and continued in session till half-past six P. M., when it adjourned to meet at nine P. M. Many of the delegates availed themselves of the interval to attend the PRAYER MEETINGS IN THE NEIGHBORING CHURCHES. and many who were not delegates, but who had come to attend the regular prayer meeting in Chaton avenue church, or expecting an open session of the Council, went away also disappointed, to attend meetings elsewhere.

Resolutions to fix the status of the Council kept the body lively for a time; for upon this point in great measure depend the character weight of the answer that is to and weight of the answer that is to be given on the peints proposed. A considerable number, but withal a minority of the delegates, are of opinion that brs. Storrs and Budington flid not approach Plymouth church in the proper spirit and according to the Scriptural precept. Yet another few believe in the purity of the motives of the plaintiffs in the case. The two doctors have been too long in the ministry and rendered too faithful service in the cause of Christ and Congregationalism to be charged now with jesiousy of a sister church and its paster, or with starting this investigation merely for the pur-charged now with jealousy of a sister church and its pastor, or with starting this investigation merely for the purpose of uncartiling a social scandal. Since the presentation of the Plymouth protest on Thursday morning, a reaction has set in in the minds of many of the delegates. The spirit of that document is deemed to be foo defiant to have any great weight with the Council. Its manifest preparation so long beforehand also is looked upon by some of the delegates as

A DISCOURTESY

If not a studied and designed insult to the Council. Again, considering the numbers and reputed wealth of Plymouth church, delegates say it has not been as faithful to Congregationalist institutions as either of the two accusing churches. This is shown by the statistics of the different boards, some of whose officers are in the Council. For instance, between 1551 and 1874 the Church of the Pligrims contributed to the several benevolent institutions of the denomination $179,385, while Plymouth church contributed but $94,351—a little more than half. The Clinton avenue church contributed in the same period $$4,999—only a few thousands less than Plymouth. Though these matters do not properly come before the Council for decision, they have been brought in as side issues, both in the "statement" of the case by Dr. Storrs and in the protest of Plymouth church, and have therefore had some influence on members' minds in the ensuing discussion.

THE COMMITTEE OF SEVEN,
which on Thursday were appointed to frame answers to the several queries propounded by the inviting courenes, having failed in their work on that evening taiked the matter over again yesterday morning and presented their report. It was not satisfactory to the friends of Mr. Beecher and Plymouth charen, and, after some brief debate, it was rejerred tack again to the same committee. The points were taken up seriation:

First—Is it in accordance with the order and usage of Congregationalsm that a member may terminate his membership in a church by absenting himself from its services and communion? or is a corporate and consenting action on the part of the church necessary to such termination of membership:

The reply to this question was understood to be

The reply to this question was understood to be non-committal. Certain circumstances were cited wherein membership might terminate in this way without the corporate consent of the church. The reply was not, however, what Drs. Endington and storrs and their litends in the Council want. They demanded a square answer, "Yes" or "No;" it is" or "it isn't." Hence the committee's work was unsatisfactory, and this was referred back again to them. The reply to this question was understood to be sgain to them.

Second—During the voluntary absence of a member from the ordinances if specific charges of grossly unchristian conduct are presented against him by a brother in the church, to which charges he declines to answer, is it in accordance with the order and usage of Congregationalism that the church shall withhold inquiry as to the alleged wickedness, and, in face of such pubme assertion of his offences, shall treat him as if still unnecuted, dropping his name from its roll "without reduction upon him?"

The answer to this question was understood to be in the negative, but, in accordance with the sentiments expressed by delegates on the first query, and in accordance with the alleged-rule in the

MANUAL OF PLYMOUTH CHURCH,
under which the member's name was dropped and which existed there when he united with the church, this was deemed by brethren an exceptional case. The committee was not able for want of ignt which Flymouth church might give were it represented, to come to a full and complete understanding on this point. Their answer was therefore in a sense non-committal.

Third, When such a member is charged with having fore in a sense non-committal.

Third—When such a member is charged with having 'circulated and promoted scandals derogatory to the Christian integrity of the pastor and injurious to the reputation of the church, if he he publicly released, by the church which he confronts, without examination of the lacts and without censure, from all further responsibility to it, has the rule of Christ in the eighteenth chapter of Matthew, concerning the treatment of the trespassing brother, as commonly administed in Congresiational churches, been maintained, or is it distinctly listingarded, in a case which called for its careful observance?

On this point the committee were about equally fivided as to the action of Plymouth church toward its erring member and of the two accusing shurches toward Plymouth church. While it was thought by some members of the committee and of the Council that Plymouth church had in a sense soniormed to

To this question, also, the committee were dis-posed to give a qualified affirmative, but they were not ready to declare that the apparent departure from Congregational usage tended in the circum-stances to injure and offend other churches, and to call for such remonstrance as the accusing churches had made or given in the way they gave it.

thating in their reliowship with it?

This is a less equivocal question than some others, and the committee, it was understood, were more unanimous in their reply to this than to the others. They would disfellowship Flymouth church if they had had more light on certain points, but imasmuch as a sentence of this kind was deemed of little or no consequence to Plymouth church in elither the committee nor the Council were prepared to make themselves and culture in the Eyes of the community by passing censure in this way. The question of fellowship was, therefore, left in abeyance.

Sixth—in view of the resolution adopted by the Ply-fellowship was, therefore, left in abeyance.

Sixth—In view of the resolution adopted by the Ply mouth church. December 5, 1873, in which its rules are in terpreted, publicly and with authority, "as releving all other churches from responsibility for the doctrine order and discipline of this church, and this church from all responsibility for those of other churches," what is the duty, concerning that church of the churche calling this Council? Especially, what action, it any should they take to release themselves from the mutually responsible connection with it, in which they have stood before the Christian public?

By some members of the committee and of the near this action of riymouth cauren was looked in as a disfellowshipping of all other Congrega-ial churches, and though irregular in its shod, yet for the sake of peace and harmony in denomination had better not be answered ad-sely to either party in this controversy.

recent.—Have the churches calling this Council ed in its judgment in substantial accordance with principles of Congregationalism, as set north in our diorized platforms of pointy, in the remonstrances I requests addressed by them to the Plymouth church; in what respect, if any, have they erred toward that irch and departed from these principles in the repentations which they have made to it?

The general sentiment of the Council on this point, so far as it could be gathered, was mildly against the churches calling the Council. These queries the committee and the Council spent about against the committee and the Council spent about nine hours and a half yesterday discussing without coming to any satisfactory result. Last night they remained in session about an hour and a half; but as it was apparent that they could not agree upon a series of answers that would give general satisfaction they adjourned at half-past ten P. M. till nine A. M. to-day.

AN INTENED SENSATION SPOILED.

During the earlier sessions yesterday Messrs. Theodore Tilton and Frank Moulton drove up to the Council room, but did not enter. Mr. Tilton intended to create a sensation, and sent in a letter which affirmed nothing and denied nothing of the matters in dispute, except that he had properly and legally, according to the discipline of Plymouth church, severed his connection with that church. This, of course, is one of the points on which they ask advice.

The following is Mr. Tiltons letter which had no they sak advice.

The following is Mr. Tilton's letter, which had no perceptible effect whatever on the committee or the Council:— BROOKLYN, March 26, 1874.

BROOKLYN, MARCH 26, 1874.

TO THE CONGERGATIONAL COUNCIL:—
GENTLEMEN, CLERICAL AND LAY—AS your honorable body are discussing a case in which I am made to appear a principal actor. You will accord to me the courtesy of contributing to your official records a correct statement of my own position—a privilege which I ask because my position has been misrepresented in your body to my grievous injury. This misrepresentation touches two vital points—first, my attitude toward Plymouth church; second, my action toward its paster.

I will make a plain statement of the facts bearing on both points. h points trst-in 1800 I became a member of Plymouth church. 1839 I terminated my connection with that church. 1873, my name—which still lingered on the roll—was my name—which sair images by many control was executed by me in eitement from the church was executed by me in conformity with a rule of the church, and the ty of my act has since been signally and repeatedly do the though affirming eaffirming the principle on which that act was

But principle, as I hold it, is the free right of a free man to sever his connection with a church by his free with and I shall never become a churchman in any church in which this is not a rule.

On the part of Figmouth church this same principle has been similar stated, as follows:

"Every man has an indefeasion right to separate himself from the church by his own sole act."

It was this right, thus held and now championed by Plymouth church, that I exercised in that church four versage.

mouth church, that I exercised in that church four range y that act, and on that principle, I have ever since of and still stand, and I believe that if the discussion sing from this case shall result in stamping this principle from the control of the churches I shall thereby have consider, by an accidental example, to further not a little reignous liberty of manking.

The affectionate loyality which I bear to my father and ther evermore reminds me that they belong to the ren of whose liberty Roger Williams was the early mpion in this country; and it is the native blood him me that makes me leaflows, to an extreme degree, accretotal anthority and ecclesiastical bonds.

To action of Plymouth church growing out of my ecould have been more in consonance with my transactions.

Second—Four years after I had thus terminated my con-der against any human being.

The imputation that I have slandered Mr. Beecher I will now annihilate with the following facts, beginning with Mr. Beecher's own explicit demal of the charge against me. I quote from the Brooklyn Eagle of June 4, 16.3, the following card, conspicuously published over his own skinature:—

against me. I quote from the blows of a superior over his own signature:—
"To the Eutron or the Brooklyn Eagle:—
"My Dear Sig—I have maintained silence respecting the sanders which have for some time past followed me. "I would not speak now but for the sake of relieving another of an unjust imputation.

"The document which was recently published bearing my name with others was published without consultation either with me or with Mr. Tilton, nor with any authorization by us.

"If that document should lead the public to regard Mr. Tilton as the author of the calumnies to which it aliades it will do him great injustice.
"I am anyilling that he should even seem to be responsible for injurious statements whose force was derived wholly through others.

On Friday morning, October 31, 1873, I sent to the Examining Committee of Plymouth church a letter in which I made the following explicit statements:—"I wrote a few days ago to your committee stating that I had not for lour years held any connection whatever with Plymouth church, and therefore could not with propriety act the part of a member in any proceedings now.

with propriety act the part of a member in any proceedings now.

"But since writing that note I learn from the public papers that because my name still appears on the church books I am therefore still considered a member, sunticinity so at least to be indicted by one of the members for siandering the pastor.

"A hint also is thrown out that I am thus refusing to submit myself to the church's tribunal in order to escape the responsibility of my slanderous words.

"I therefore say, first, I have never spoken against Mr. Beecher falserly; and second, if either he or the committee shall request me to waive my non-membership and take my position once again as a member I will do so long enough to appear this evening at the meeting to answer before the assembled congregation the following question from either Mr. Beecher or the committee, namely:—

ely:itave you, Theodore Tilton, ever spoken against ry Ward Beecher faisely?

"Have you, Theodore Tilton, ever spoken against Henry Ward Beecher falsely?" "I request you to show this letter to Mr. Beecher before the action of the committee to night.

"Let me add that my explicitness in this matter is solely with a view to protect myself against any unjust suspicion or reflection in future that I have ever sought to evade any just responsibility of mine to Flymouth church."

On Friday evening, October 31, 1873, I appeared in person in Flymouth church—for the first time in four years—and made to the assembled congregation a statement, from which I transcribe the following passage:—

"I have come here to hight not from any obligation of membership, since I am not a member, and not sum moved by any committee, has summore the product of the committee has summore than a matter vital to my life and honor, to say in Mr. Beecher's presence, surrounded here by his lifends, that if I have slandered him I am ready to answer for it to the man whom I have slandered. If, therefore, the minister of this courch has anything whereof to accuse me let him now speak and I shall answer, as God is my judge."

After I had made the above utterance in Mr. Beecher's

After I had made the above utterance in Mr. Reecher's resence he responded in a speech, from which I will personal knowledge he was absent because he believed that his relation to the church had been separated by his own act.

"For four years past Mr. Tilton has not been present at any of our meetings. You have known it and never protested against it in any meeting or social gathering. With the distinct knowledge that for nearly four years he has assumed the position or a man that had withdrawn had been been been as a setting the position of a man that had withdrawn had been set as a setting the position of his action.

"I desire to say further that I don't believe that Mr. Tilton has desired in any way whatever to shirk his proper responsibility or to avoid or to evade any proper charge that might be made by the church. He asks is I have any charge to make against him. I have none."

Your nonorable body will have the kindness to accept from me the above lacks, all taken from historic records. I respectfully ask you to incorporate them into your proceedings; not as shedding high on your eccessistical theories but as an act of justice toward myself; for I have been put in a raise position before your body, and, through you, before the public.

In conclusion, let me repeat the two points which the above statements brove, namely:—

First—That my voluntary retirement from Plymouth church was wholly in accordance with the rule and spirit of thatchurch: and.

Second—that my action toward the pastor has always been prompted by an honoratic sense of what consituers fair dealing between man and man.

Yours with respect.

in my judgment, such an issue would ment and a shame.—CHARLES SUMNER.
